JEWELS WORTH BIG FORTUNE ARE STOLEN

LARGE REWARD OFFERED FOR RETURN OF QUARTER MILLION DOLLAR PLUNDER

(By Associated Press.)
CALCUTTA, India, June 4.—A reward of $10,000 has been offered for information leading to the recovery of jewels worth $250,000 stolen from the maharani (queen) of the feudal state of Cooch Behar.

The Maharani's marriage, in 1913, was a world-wide sensation for a day. The wedding was originally fixed to take place in India in May, but on account of racial objections by the bride's parents it was cancelled almost at the last moment and the bride was taken to England. The would-be groom followed her there, overcame the parental objections, and insisted upon being married then and there. In a prosaic government registry office in London.

Proceeding the marriage the bride was received into the Brambo Samaj, the groom's religion, at the Buckingham Palace hotel. During this service incense was burned and music was produced on conch shells by Indian musicians. A marriage according to the native rites was later performed at the hotel, the bride changing her European dress for the pink and gold sari of India, and the prince wearing a native white costume and turban. The wedding cake was cut with the state sword of Cooch Behar. A week after the wedding the reigning maharajah died suddenly, and the bridegroom became ruling monarch of the state. His two sisters are married to two Englishmen and brothers, Alan and Lionel Manden.

HONORING MEMORY OF NATION BUILDER

ELABORATE CEREMONY IS NOW IN PROGRESS AT JAPANESE CAPITAL

(By Associated Press.)
TOKIO, June 4.—An elaborate celebration of the 500th anniversary of the death of Ieyasu Tokugawa, the founder of the Tokugawa Shogunate, has begun in Japan, and will be continued for several months. Daily Buddhist services and gorgeous processions have been held in Shiba Park, Tokio. The most picturesque of these was the diango parade, followed by the famous "no" dance which many American tourists, who had come to see the cherry blossoms, arrived just in time to witness.

In the Tokugawa period, which began in the 16th century and lasted until 1868 when the revolution brought an end to feudalism, the diango or feudal lords were ever accompanied by an imposing pageant when they went out in state.

Looking back, Japanese publicists consider that the feudal system, now dead, was an incomparable monument to the genius of Ieyasu. They consider that the present terecentary celebration is in honor of a great nation.

The associations propose that the basis of the estimates be the sums required to fully restore to its original condition all property damaged or destroyed.

SPORTS HAVE FIELD GLASSES, "NON-COM" OFFICERS NONE

(By Associated Press.)
LONDON, June 4.—While hundreds of appeals for field glasses appear in the personal columns of the London papers in behalf of young officers at the front, the followers of the races still have plenty of binoculars with which to view the horses. A picture of the grounds at Newmarket, showing the crowd with glasses to eyes following the race, appears in one of the London newspapers, while below appears the appeal for these instruments made by Lady Roberts. Commissioned officers must largely furnish their own kit in the British army, and their pay is only nominal. Field glasses are naturally out of the reach of the non-commissioned officers. One of the last acts of Lord Roberts was an appeal to the sportsmen for field glasses for the front, and before leaving on his trip to France he wrote a second appeal, which was found after his death.
